This volume of CEEJME presents selection of the best papers presented at the conference on "Judicial review of the decision of the President of the Office of Competition and Consumer Protection" held at the University of Wrocław (Poland) in 19 March 2015. This was part of a Maestro research project financed by the Polish National Science Centre entitled "Judicial review of decisions of national regulatory authorities and national competition authorities in the light of EU and national law" (nr DEC-2013/08/A/HS5/00642). A special feature of the conference was the engagement not only of scholars in the field of economic law, but also practitioners (lawyers, legal advisors and judges), PhD students and students of law. The interaction between these groups we consider to be essential, as many practical problems appear in the creation and implementation of laws in Poland and the EU, and in particular when there is no coherence in the development in both areas. We express the hope that this volume contributes to the discussion, and will be interesting for theoreticians and practitioners.
